

CHRISTIAN PERSPECTIVES ON MODERN ABOLITIONIST ACTIVISM:
MOTIVATION, CONCEPTUALIZATION, AND APPROACH

by

Aimée Hartecramer

A thesis submitted to the Department of International Affairs
University of Colorado Boulder
2011

*This thesis entitled:
Christian Perspectives on Modern Abolitionist Activism:
Motivations, Conceptualizations, and Approach
written by Aimée Hartecramer has been approved for the Department of International Affairs*

Professor Victoria Hunter

Professor Robert Buffington

Professor Rolf Norgaard

Professor Vicki Grove

April 2011

The final copy of this thesis has been examined by the signatories, and we find that both the content and the form meet acceptable presentation standards of scholarly work in the above mentioned discipline.

Institutional Review Board Protocol #10-0185

Abstract

Hartecramer, Aimée (B.A., May 2011, Major: International Affairs)
Christian Perspectives on Modern Abolitionist Activism:
Motivations, Conceptualizations, and Approach

The same forces behind globalization have fostered the international slave-trade, as well as the transnational communication networks of religious adherents. The slave-trade and these faith-based networks intersect in the realms of human rights and humanitarian activism. In particular, Christian-based advocacy has played a significant role within the movement to end human trafficking and various forms of modern slavery. This study is a cross-sectional, qualitative exploration of the motivations and conceptualizations behind the activism of individuals confessing a faith in Jesus Christ, especially those working on issues of modern slavery. The primary aim of this study is to explore the specific religious rhetoric, imagery, and histories that currently function as motivational factors within the world of faith-based abolitionist activism. A secondary aim of this study is to increase general awareness of Judeo-Christian perspectives, positions and approaches to anti-trafficking/slavery activism, for the express purpose of facilitating cooperation and collaboration between diverse groups of activists, both faith-based and secular.

CONTENTS

CHAPTER

I.	INTRODUCTION.....	1
	Background.....	2
	Forces of Globalization Facilitating Modern Slavery.....	2
	The Post-Cold War “Religious Renaissance”	6
	Religious Responses to Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking	13
	Understanding Rhetoric to Facilitate Collaboration....	16
II.	OBJECTIVES & AIMS	17
	Methodology	19
	Subjects	19
	Research Design	20
	Instruments & Study Procedures	21
	Data Analysis	23
	Limitations & Bias	23
III.	RESULTS	25
	Overview.....	25

Discussion	26
Themes in Expressed Motivation	26
Themes in Conceptualization.....	37
Themes in Approach.....	46
Historical Figures.....	51
IV. CONCLUSION.....	57
BIBLIOGRAPHY.....	60
APPENDIX
1. QUESTIONNAIRE TO SUBJECTS IN THE RESEARCH STUDY	i
2. SURVEYS AND INTERVIEW DATA	ii
3. DATA GATHERED ON INDIVIDUALS, ORGANIZATIONS & FROM OTHER MATERIALS.....	ix

TABLES

Table

1.1	Old Testament Descriptions of the Character of God	31
1.2	Direct Instructions for Mankind from God.....	32
2.1	New Testament references from the Gospel Narratives.....	35
2.2	New Testament references from the Epistles	36